NORTHERN TERMINUS.

The Witness Correspondent Describes Metlakahtla—Indians Returning from Alaska.

A Northern Terminus—Visions Seen by a Far-Seeing Newspaper Man—Ft. Simpson.

The Montreal Witness correspondent who came to write up the Hazleton war, has sent some very readable accounts to his paper of the northern country. An extract which is quoted below will be read with interest.

There is a certain pathos about Metlakahtla. A village of two-storied houses, with street lamps, gardens, and shell-strewn paths, where fruit has unequal luxuriance, whose harbor has efficient shelter, where there is a cannery and a sawmill for the employment of the people, the largest church in the province, and a fine mission house—and yet the houses are in ruins, gaping wideless on the sea, the church mocking with hollow echoes its scanty services, the cannery and sawmill are broken down, there are no children in the streets, no gathering in the public place, the guest-house that was once thronged with many travelers has no path to come to it, and all the gardens are overgrown and waste.

And all this is because the missionary, Mr. Duncan, who could so well bring the Indians to a higher life, could not himself tread the highest path of compulsory self-sacrifice, did not restrain the people from violence against his Bishop and the Church, fell himself into the schism, and exiled nearly all his people from their native land. And yet, perhaps, he also has something to say in the matter. His people come down from Alaska to get work, and although too proud to confess error, they are one by one binding fresh interests on Skeena and Naas Rivers, even a few are settling directly to Metlakahtla. There are now 150 Indians there now. The [illegible] immense [illegible] N. PACIFIC: BA[illegible] size; there are great numbers of fish and clams, and geese are constantly heard on the surrounding islands. Low, distant mountains lift their snows into the summer beyond the island-studded channels, and over the whole scene is an air of peace.

I had come to Metlakahtla by the Anglican mission steamer "Evangeline," and met with great courtesy during my short stay. It is the seat of the diocese of New Caledonia, and in the absence of Bishop Ridley in England the Rev. W. H. Collison is in charge, assisted by the resident missionary. The former gentleman told me that years ago, finding there were no deer in the forests of the Queen Charlotte Islands he has caused five to be captured and shipped from the mainland, and that while these bred rapidly the Indians had kept rigid faith with him in forbearing to kill any, save to eat them. It is also due to his forethought that the English fruit in all the gardens on this part of the coast has been added to the natural blessing of the country.

Fort Simpson is perhaps more attractive than even Metlakahtla. The houses are more numerous and better designed, and the place looks prosperous. At the Methodist Mission, which has a good church, is an Industrial school wherein twenty-five Indian girls are sheltered from impurity and taught to keep house. If the missionaries would only stop quarrelling they could do a fine work among the tractable Indians. Fort Simpson has an important Hudson's Bay Company's post dating from 1830, and the log buildings, although defaced in part with modern clap boards and paint, have a little of the natural frontier dignity which pervades the true Hudson's Bay factory. One of the bastions even and some curtailed parts of the old stockade still exist. There are now nine or ten whites in the village. The houses occupy a point of land and a little island forming part of the breakwater of the fine circular bay, cited officially as the best of the British Columbian harbors. There is plenty of water and water power, very little land and some good spruce timber in the district. The weather is beastly.

Visions rise before me of Fort Simpson a city, and on the bay a fleet. From the towers and terraces I see the solemn mountains looking down, and out beyond the entrances glow the soft purple distances of the Alaskan coast. Most lovely of harbors! Waters crowded with the merchandise of Asia and the Southern Seas caress the wharves whereon stands trains that shall carry the elements of ease and comfort to the East; and down the North Transcontinental Railway to Fort Churchill and on beyond to Eastern Canada are towns and villages that owe existence to the next daring venture of our people. The opening of the Siberian country beyond York Factory, of the resources of the Canadian Mediterranean Sea, of the wheat valleys of the Saskatchewan, the Peace and the Athabasca, the bitumen, timber and coal of the great unknown plains of the McKenzie's Basin, the gold fields and the superb scenery of the interior ranges of British Columbia, the fertile lands of the Upper Skeena, and lastly the immense fisheries of the Pacific Coast—these and more yet are the riches that await man's industry in the "fertile belt" and beyond. There will be feeders of this great line of traffic, the Manitoba and North Western coming in at Prince Albert, the rail and navigation systems of the Mackenzie basin, and perhaps a great interior line northward by way of the Fraser valley. When Canada will be able to build a line for healthy competition with the Canadian Pacific we cannot tell. Our government cannot indulge every year in public works in advance of settlement, but still there is no harm in our looking forward to some elements of the mighty future which every patriot aspires to build up for his native land.

A SALT SPRING TENDERFOOT

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—Your correspondent, Country Major, must be a "tenderfoot" on the island or he would know that three months' notice was given of the resolution to move the Cowichan, Salt Spring and Chemainus Agricultural Society's exhibition from Maple Bay to some point on the Island Railway, and that Salt Spring Island sent four representatives to vote on this important resolution. Had Salt Spring Island stuck to the society as of old, the meetings would never have been moved. But now I trust to see the tenderfooted Major and many old pioneers from the island with lots of exhibits on the new show grounds next week. Yours truly, M. B.

COMPOSITION DRAIN PIPES.

A Successful Trial at the Old Lion Brewery Yesterday.

On invitation of Messrs. Gabriel and Olesen, a TIMES reporter witnessed the whole process of manufacture of the patent drain pipe at the old Lion brewery yesterday afternoon. The apparatus required for the manufacture is inexpensive and simple—some iron moulds (which are the most expensive part), a crucible, a ladle, and a pair of scales, being about the sum total of the outfit. The ingredients are also simple and inexpensive, consisting of sulphur, sand, clay, cement and a small quantity of pitch. Mr. Gabriel explained the modus operandi. Clay taken from the ground, sand, cement, sulphur and pitch, were weighed out in the following proportions, viz: Clay 17lbs, sand 20lbs, sulphur 25lbs, cement 4lbs, pitch ½lb. The ingredients were then mixed by a Chinaman, a fire lighted under a small crucible, and a few handfuls of sulphur thrown in. When melted, the mixture was gradually added, John stirring up the porridge all the while with an iron poker, till the last spoonful had been added to the seething mass. All the time matters were being explained by voluable Mr. Gabriel. The operation of melting occupied about an hour. When the flux was well on Mr. Olesen had a look at it; being bubbling and frothing, he removed the fire and permitted the mixture to cool a little. The mould being ready, at the word go, the stuff was poured in when of the consistency of thin porridge. Running quickly to the end of the mould, the screw for breaking up the core was turned, the mould then lowered, unscrewed, and a most perfect pipe, 5 ft. 4 in. long, 4 in. in diameter, was exposed to view. It was simply perfect in its casting. The whole operation did not occupy more than three minutes. The casting in about ten minutes, was broken up, resisting the powerful blows of Mr. Gabriel's hammer. On being examined it exhibited a substance free from flaws, bubbles or other detriments. The experiment was a complete success. Mr. Olesen, the inventor, is a gentleman well-known in the powder and glycerine manufacturing business. He explained that the more tenacious the clay, and the greater the proportion of sulphur, the better will be the substance produced. The flux would also be sooner brought to the required consistency.

As seen yesterday, the article presented everything required for a good sanitary pipe, smooth, easily joined and manufactured. Should experiments prove the other requisite qualities regarding resistance and nature of the texture as to porousness, it must become a success and will no doubt supersede the substance at present used in the manufacture of drain pipes. As to the resistance of the substance to acid, we were shown a piece that had been immersed in acid for months, as hard and as perfect as the hour it was put in. The cost of manufacture is trifling, being about 25 cents for a pipe 5 feet by 4 inches in diameter.

FROM OTTAWA.

To get a Position in British Columbia—Deputy to Minister of Interior.

(Special to THE TIMES.)

Ottawa, Sept. 19—Mr. Evans, who threatened to run for Cardwell against the wishes of the Tory leaders, it is said, is going to be appointed to a lucrative Government position in British Columbia for having retired from the contest.

It will be nomination day for the Commons in Montreal East to-morrow. The Conservatives will endorse Lepine, the labor candidate, Poirer, who was dismissed by Chapleau from the translator's staff, runs as a Nationalist, and the whole Riel company will be awakened in the fight.

H. H. Smith, Dominion lands commissioner, is here acting as Deputy to the Minister of the Interior in place of Mr. Burgess, who was stricken down ill in Victoria and has not yet recovered.

Understood that a suit for breach of promise will be taken against Bowell on his return from the west, also an action for damages against his daughter for defamation of character in regard to a letter she wrote against Mrs. Stevenson.

Poirier, Liberal, and Lepire, Tory, were nominated to-day for Montreal East.

THE INDIANS' GRIEVANCES

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—I want the public to know how the Government's agent, Judge O'Reilly, treats us. You all know that they said the Government had given us in length 22 miles of land, in width 5 miles, but we have not accepted this yet. We want to have the whole of the Tsimpshean peninsula, reserving the rights of those men who have already secured Crown deeds. Now, Mr. O'Reilly wants to divide the 22 miles of reserve between us and the Metlakahtla people nearly equally, giving us less land than we want. There are about 80 people at Metlakahtla now and about 800 people at Port Simpson. Everybody will say it is not fair to give 80 people as much land as would be given 800 people. Frequently we have told the government what we, as a people, want, and last year we sent our words to the government by their commissioners, but the government has not answered them. We handed Mr. O'Reilly a statement of our wants and asked him to lay it before the government, and we asked him not to divide the land between us and Metlakahtla people, until they, the government, had seen our paper. Mr. O'Reilly said that he was going to divide now. Then I said there will be trouble. I did not mean that we would give the government trouble, but that there would be trouble between us and Metlakahtla, just as there is trouble between us and the Naas people of Kincolith about the division of the land on that river. We told Mr. O'Reilly in our letter that if the government gives us the Peninsula we will ask for the Advancement Act to be applied to us. I am, sir, yours truly,

RICHARD WILSON, an Indian.

Port Simpson, Sept. 10, 1888.

—Henry Beatty, manager of the C.P.R steamships, has interviewed Hon. Mr. Langevin and urged the extension of the Esquimalt graving dock. He says it is not large enough for the first-class vessels of the Canadian Pacific steamship service.

—Mr. Begg, who is interesting himself in an Ottawa Crofter emigration scheme, has arrived in from London. He says the whole scheme is shelved for the present and that nothing more will be done for a few months or until there is a parliamentary enquiry into the question. After interviewing members of the government Mr Begg will go to Calgary, and will also visit Victoria and confer with the Government.

Elevator Accident—Six Persons Shoot Down Five Stories With Fatal Results.

Prospect of High Prices for Wheat—President Diaz' Message—The Chinese Bill.

New York, Sept. 19—A great hunting expedition has just completed its organization. It is under the auspices of Buffalo Bill and Colonel Thomas P. Ochiltree. Its rendezvous is to be at El Paso on November tenth this year. Among those participating will be the Grand Duke Michael of Russia, Lord Randolph Churchill and Lord Charles Beresford, First Lord of the Admiralty of England. New York papers will send reporters with the expedition from El Paso. It will proceed to Senator Geo. Hearst's ranch in Chehuaha, to meet Jno. Follansbee, and from that point will proceed under his guidance to meet fierce black bears in the mountains of Sinaloa.

THE CHINESE BILL.

Washington, Sept., 19—Congressman Thompson, of California, had a brief conversation with the President to-day regarding the Chinese bill passed by the Senate yesterday. Although the President gave no intimation of the course he should pursue, Mr. Thompson feels confident that the bill will be approved.

MEXICO AND U. S.

City of Mexico, Sept. 19—President Diaz, in his message to Congress, refers to the relations with the United States and to the treaty of July 11th regarding grazing cattle, etc. He says the American Government has taken precautions against the depredations of Indians who fled from San Carlos reservation and he recommends that the Senate arrange a new extradition treaty with the United States. The frequency of crimes on the frontier requires a more ample extradition treaty.

A DUELIST BANQUETED.

Cheyenne, Sept. 19—A cowboy named Frank Williams killed a desperado named Sam Brown in a duel at Hartville, in this county, last Thursday. Williams fled and could not be found. A coroner's jury returned a verdict which did not incriminate him and he came from his hiding place and surrendered to the authorities on Saturday. At his preliminary hearing to-day it was established that William shot in self-defence and he was released. He was tendered a reception this evening by the grateful citizens of Hartville, where Brown had terrorized all the citizens.

WILL REMOVE DUTIES.

Paris, Sept. 19—La France says that on account of the inadequate harvest the government will suspend the import duties on cereals. The council of ministers will discuss the question on Thursday.

SALE OF THE LICK HOUSE.

San Francisco, Sept. 19—The sale of the Lick House property by Senator James G. Fair for $1,250,000 has been confirmed by the Lick trustees. From the funds realized by the sale the trustees will give the Society of California Pioneers and Academy of Science each $444,769. The Academy of Science will build a large edifice on Market street just above the Flood building. The plans will be drawn up shortly and the building commenced; it is also said that prominent members of the Pioneers offer to donate $50,000 as a nucleus to an hospital.

THE MECHANICS' FAIR.

The receipts of the Mechanics' Fair just closed were six thousand less than last year.

BARK DOBEY PARK WRECKED.

The barkentine Tropic Bird from Tahiti arrived this morning with eighteen sailors of the wrecked bark Dobey Park.

ELEVATOR ACCIDENT.

The elevator in the Bancroft building fell from the fifth story this morning to the cellar with ten passengers. The accident, which will probably result fatally, was caused by parting of the cable due to overloading. A. Alexander, Oakland, had his thigh broken and suffered severe hemmorrage. M. A. Little, Prof. Van Der Nailler, Robt. Critcher Wm. Unfred and M. O. Clagn were passengers. Van Der Nailler and Little were taken home on stretchers. At the time of the accident the employees were leaving the building for lunch. There were ten persons on board. It went by the landings whizzing into the cellar that was dimly lighted. The accident will certainly be attended with loss of life.

CHARGED WITH ATTEMPT TO MURDER.

A. V. Martin, employed in the delivery department of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, was arrested at 3 o'clock this morning on a charge of assault to murder. He has been keeping company with an attractive young woman named Jessie Edwards. She told him last night he need not call any more and gave him the "mitten." Early this morning he saw her coming out of a house with another man. He hid behind the door of the Sample Bar saloon on Sutter street, and when she passed fired four shots at her with a pistol, one of the bullet struck her side but was stopped by her corset steel; it merely scratched the abdomen. The prisoner was held in $1,000 bail.

Journalistic Upheavals.

Following upon the retirement of Mr. J. M. O'Brien from the editorial management of the Colonist the announcement was made this morning that Mr. W. H. Higgins, son of the former proprietor and establisher of the paper, had severed his connection with the firm. The change known to be in contemplation for some weeks past was consummated yesterday. The TIMES regrets the change. First for the reason that ever since its staff has known the retiring young journalist it has found him uniformly courteous, polite, and possessed of a proper sense of professional etiquette. Secondly because he is supposed, though perhaps erroneously, to be the connecting link between the Colonist and a certain force which was the life and soul of it. It is understood that Mr. Higgins will re-engage in business, and in doing so he has the best wishes of THE TIMES for his success.

—The steamer left Vancouver at 2.40 with the base ball party and "the father" of the boys, T. J. Barnes, on board. The boys will be received with all the honors.

—The property sold to W. Grimm on Johnson street was owned by Jos. Dwyer. The price paid was $2,175.

SPORTING NOTES.

At Kamloops—Baseball Tournament and Lacrosse.

BASEBALL TOURNAMENT.

The game played yesterday afternoon at Kamloops was another victory for the Amities with a score of 10 to 6. Borthwick played errorless games throughout the tournament, whilst the pitching of Schultz and Baker was the subject of favorable comment on all sides. Duck, Barns and Gouge did some heavy batting. Geo. Gowen played well on first base; his safe hits were numerous. Jackson, pitcher for the James Bays, played short-stop for the Amities and assisted materially in wioning the trophy. Gus Gowen made some fine catches on second base. The score in yesterday's game with the Donald's was as follows:

Mr. Edwards, of Victoria, acted as umpire during the tournament and received great credit for his impartial decisions.

The Amities were entertained last night by the General Committee and received cheer after cheer as the train left Kamloops. They will arrive this evening on the steamer Yosemite. The Queen City band and a torchlight procession will meet the champions on their arrival at the C. P. N. wharf. The trophy won by the Amities is valued at $75 and stands 22 inches high. The base is supported by four balls, and is about four inches square, on which a pedestal five inches high, with a shield of polished steel on the front and back for the inscription, and two balls at the foot. Each side of the pedestal is adorned with three silver bats and a wreath. The bowl resting on the pedestal is 7½ inches deep and 6 inches in diameter, being richly decorated with engravings of maple leaves, flowers, bats, balls and figures of batsmen and catchers in position. The cover is surmounted with a catcher's mask, three balls and a bat. The trophy will be competed for annually at Kamloops in September, and must be won three years in succession before becoming the property of any club. With the trophy is awarded a prize of $300 to the successful club.

THE LACROSSE MATCH.

Immediately after the baseball match between the Donald team and Westminster team, the lacrosse match was called, but it was nearly an hour before play began on account of Whyte, Victoria's excellent point, who had played on the Westminster base ball team against Donald, not being ready. About 1.30 the ball was faced and the position of the teams were as follows:

VICTORIA.	Position.	VANCOUVER.
W H Cullin	Goal	C N Davidson
J C Whyte	Point	A E Suckling
A C Wade	C Point	J Bingham
W G Mackenzie	D Field	E Murphy
W G Ledingham	D Field	E McDougal
T Cusack	D Field	A Godfrey
J Cox	Centre	J Grier
B Clarke	H Field	E Crotteau
G Tite	H Field	D Simpson
J Ross	H Field	D Health
C C Fletcher	Outside Home	P Wade
W Clarke	Inside Home	H Norval

It would be useless to give a description of each game as the ball was continually being scuffled for, and the ground was the worst of its nature the players ever experienced. Good playing was exceptional. The match was best three games in five and lasted nearly three hours, Vancouver taking two and Victoria three. The last game was disputed by Vancouver, but the umpire gave the match to Victoria and his decision was final. This ended the hardest fought game of lacrosse played in British Columbia and Victoria may well feel proud of her boys, they still retain the championship, may they live long to uphold her fair name.

During the progress of the last game the dust blew so in clouds that playing was discontinued, but resumed again in ten minutes.

The Victoria team was considerably handicapped in not having any rest after their journey up and losing the choice of playing with the wind and dust against them, but this only adds more glory to them.

Mr. H. Beasley of Donald was referee.

Mr. D. W. Morrow was field captain for Victoria, while Mr. Taylor acted in a like capacity for Vancouver.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP CUP.

The cup won by the lacrosse team is on exhibition in the window of Mr. Jamieson's bookstore. It is a fine artistic piece of workmanship standing 18 inches high. Before the bowl, which is six inches deep and five inches wide, are two lacrosse sticks and balls. On each side of the bowl are the national emblems of Canada, a beaver and a wreath of maple leaves, the cup being ten inches in diameter from beaver to beaver. The corner is surmounted by two flags and the side of the bowl will be engraved with an appropriate inscription for the fortunate winners.

BASE BALL NOTES.

Mr. W. Duck during a practice on Saturday sprained his back so that he was unable to play on Monday, but played against Donald and Westminster yesterday.

All the Amities were in excellent playing trim as the scores show.

Mr. T. Barnes, Sr., was a regular father to the Amities and lacrosse team.

The Amities and lacrosse boys encouraged one another. The crowd was not exactly with the Victorians. A good many were up from Vancouver and the large number of C. P. R. people present had other favorites. Still everything was on the square.

Schultz evidently saved the game for the Amities yesterday. He was put in the box at a critical moment when one safe hit would have placed Donald in the lead. With his usual coolness and confidence in his skill he seems to have completely baffled the boys from the mountains, as they only made one run off him. With Schultz and Baker pitching and Borthwick catching the Amities are able for anything in the way of amateurs.

It is believed that considerable money was up on yesterday's game between the Amities and Donalds.

NO ANSWER YET.

In another column we publish a letter from RICHARD WILSON, a Fort Simpson Indian, in reference to the Indian claims upon the Government. It will, we feel sure, surprise the white people of the province to know that up to the present time the Indians of the Naas and the Skeena rivers have received no reply from either of the two Governments in respect to the questions laid before the commission about a year ago. It will be remembered that Mr. PLANTA, representing the Provincial government, and Mr. CORNWALL, representing the Dominion Government, were delegated to hear the complaints of the disaffected Indians on our northern coast, and for that purpose visited a number of the settlements on the rivers named. They held long interviews with the head men of the several tribes visited, who with aboriginal candor and native eloquence pleaded the cause of their people for larger areas of land and for properly defined riparian rights for fishing purposes, to ensure to their people and their children those methods of subsistence which alone are open to the Indian. The Indians were specific in their demands, as may be inferred would be the case when it is known that they back their claims—some of them extravagant enough—upon the right of original possession. The Commissioners, to their credit we are glad to say, listened to the long speeches of the chiefs with exemplary patience, and replied to them all with diplomatic skill worthy of a DOUGLAS and certainly more politic than a DUFFERIN. They promised nothing, further than as agents of the two governments they would report everything that had been said to those who had sent them, and also that an answer would be returned. The Indians believed what they were told, and have ever since been waiting for the answer. They have not received it. Mr. PLANTA has reported to the British Columbia Government, and no doubt Mr. CORNWALL has done the same to Ottawa. A year has gone round, and the Indians are still waiting for a reply.

We do not enter into a consideration of the merits of the case. The point we desire to make is that the governments, by procrastinating, are adding to the difficulties and breaking faith with the Indians. A decisive position should be taken up and adhered to. A policy of some kind ought to be adopted, and the Indians made fully acquainted with it. The difficulties dare not be ignored and the gravity of the Indian question must not be underrated. How much longer, we might enquire, are the governments going to keep the Indians in suspense?

GOVERNMENT APPOINTMENTS

The communication of "Elector," published in our issue of yesterday, proves that there is considerable dissatisfaction in the government ranks in respect to the appointment of Mr. REDDIE to the Deputy Provincial Secretaryship. "Elector" is a prominent supporter of the government, and no doubt voices the opinions of the people of New Westminster pretty accurately when he describes the contempt they entertain for the Government pharisaism that finds expression now and then in the words and acts of the ministers and their "organ." Who is Mr. REDDIE, anyway? We confess we do not know the gentleman from ADAM. He may have been a subordinate officer of the government for many years, or he may only have been on the pay-roll of the province for a week or two. Our knowledge of the "civil service" does not entitle us to speak with any degree of accuracy in respect to the gentleman's length of service. But we have been informed, by one who knows, that MR. REDDIE is a very estimable young gentleman, and the possessor of sufficient ability to enable him to discharge the duties of the position, when he has become accustomed to the routine of the office, in a fairly creditable manner. His "promotion" has been exceedingly rapid, as he has suddenly attained to a position at the head of an important department which older men, who have grown grey in the service of their country, have signally failed to secure. There were other applicants for the post of Deputy Provincial Secretary, but they didn't "get there," and for various reasons. One gentleman, who perhaps imagined that a life-long devotion to the cause of the party ought to have secured him the position, had the satisfaction of learning from Mr. ROBSON'S lips that he would certainly receive the appointment, and the credulous office-seeker is now trying to reconcile his former opinion of the Provincial Secretary as an honest man with the deception that that minister practiced upon him. Another applicant, who has many qualifications for the office, surveyed the situation, but found that the claim had been staked off before the late occupant had fairly left it. Poor ELWYN'S body was not put away under the sod before the dead man's shoes were being worn by his successor. This hurry in making the appointment had no doubt the advantage of removing the bone of contention before a fight occurred over it. Number three applicant was put off with a promise that he would receive the next position, and number four was told that all things are sure to come to those who know how to wait, which piece of philosophy resigned him to his fate. We submit that while a newcomer should not be debarred from any office in the gift of the government or the people, long residence and faithful services to party ought not to militate against the claims, or "promotions," of those who have borne the burthen and heat of the day.

THE CHAIN GANG.

Perhaps it is not altogether due to the "TOWN MAJOR," but at all events the fettered and shackled prisoners of the chain gang are no longer marched through the streets like they used to be. They are conveyed now in a wagon from the jail to where they work, and are returned home again in the evening with a degree of comfort that is enough to make the hardworking free man who trudges along on foot turn slightly green with envy. These little home comforts hardly agree, of course, with the popular idea of punishment, but the nerves of tender-hearted people are not daily unstrung by the clanking of those cruel chains on their unfortunate fellow-men. Civilization is not outraged twice a day by the spectacle of shackled convicts marching through our streets. We have reached a better state of things. The tendency of the times is to lessen the severity of punishment rather than increase it, and the results are not discouraging to those who advocate it.

There is a danger of going too far in the direction of leniency, but there is as great a one of going to the other extreme. When this occurs the penal law fails in its object. The ancient laws of Draco did not remove crime. Carthage was never so overrun with lawless men as when she hung for an hundred crimes and sawed her discontented in twain. There are thousands of illustrations which may be drawn from history to prove that the law may by reason of its severity intensify rather than lessen the evil.

DOMINION INDIFFERENCE.

In the result of the exploring expedition undertaken by the schooner Teresa, owned by our enterprising citizen, Mr. H. SAUNDERS, we have an instance of what faith or reliance the people of British Columbia can place in the present Dominion Government, or the men sent to represent the province at Ottawa. Some two years ago the important question of the black cod fishery was brought before the public. The excellence of that fish, and with the markets of the east brought to our door by the opening of the C. P. R., and other improvement in our outlets, made the location of the fishing banks of paramount importance to the trade and commerce of the province. The Board of Trade urged the matter, and the provincial legislature passed resolutions which were sent to Ottawa. A promise was given and for some trifling reason the action of the federal authorities was indefinitely postponed. Our members were too busy urging their own private claims at Ottawa, and the vital question of a new field of enterprise for the employment of our fishing fleet during the whole year round was neglected, or put off, or shelved.

The people of the Province can not expect any other kind of treatment so long as we have men representing us who only look after themselves, and a Provincial government deaf to every appeal excepting their own individual interests, or the grabbing of coal or timber lands by themselves and their friends.

BRITISH ENTERPRISE IN AFRICA.

The London press contains lengthy allusions to the charter lately granted to the English East African Company, whose hopeful prospects creates a feeling of jealousy in the breasts of our Teutonic cousins. The mishaps that seem to befall the German attempt at colonization on the African continent, especially in the interior, has damped the ardor of MYNHEER HERR so much that it is thought the interior posts will be abandoned and operations strictly confined to the coast. Africa has now become to Europe what America was during the past three centuries. Forty years ago England had a monopoly of the Dark Continent. The French occupation of Algeria extended no further, and the Portugese had sunk to the lowest ebb as an African power. The explorations of the Zambesi, Congo and Niger basins by LIVINGSTONE, STANLEY, BAKER and SPECKE, were an outcome of that practical philanthropy peculiarly the characteristics of the British and British Americans, in which the Puritan is always renascent, and Christianity and trade were imposed on the negro of the "Dark Continent." Ignorance as to the climate of the interior debarred advancement, and operations in religion and trade did not extend very far inland. When the Caffir war of '52 brought the turbulent Cecolie to kiss the feet of the Lion of England, and while the horrors of Trumpeter's Drift and the Kittskhamahook was green in our memories, LIVINGSTONE was preparing the way in the wilderness for the advancement of our religion, civilization and Manchester cotton.

The sudden descent of European nations on Africa since Stanley explored the Congo country, took England by surprise. England thought no other power would interfere with her squatter's right, but not having made an entry for her homestead and pre-emption her claim was invalid. Germany, France, Italy even the indolent Portuguese, became awake to the situation and acted accordingly. Apart from Egypt and the valley of the Nile we have not much interest in Northern Africa. On the east the country opposite Aden must be secured. The country to the south unclaimed by any other power, has been granted to the new company, including the Lake country at the source of the Nile. This country is rich in ores, gold, iron and tin being found in surprising quantities. With government support to the agencies, both evangelical and commercial, already established by our missionaries and traders, the influence of Britain would embrace a large portion of the country lying between the Zambesi and the Congo basins. Thus it may be looked for some day, not far distant, when the British settlement at the Cape will be linked in one continuous band of British dominion to the delta of the Nile. When the existing African Lakes company will join issues with the new company, then will British dominion become paramount in Africa. All that is wanted is a fair field and no favor, and in order to secure that for our commerce, our civilization and a field for emigration, Britain is forced to extend her direct political influence over a large part of the African continent.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It was mentioned in the Colonist of yesterday that the Governor-General is unable to be present to open the Agricultural Show to be held in this city next month. We are informed that the Agricultural society is not aware that the Governor-General was asked to be present at the opening of this very excellent exhibition. If this is the case some one must have been acting in the matter without authority.

The name given by the promoters to the proposed line of railway to connect this city with the mainland via the Saanich peninsula is the "Victoria, Saanich and New Westminster Railway." Engineers go to the field at once to make instrumental surveys of the line so that profiles of the different branches may be in the hands of the promoters at an early day. Mr. H. P. Bell, C. E., who has had large experience on work of this character, is placed in charge of the surveys, which is a guarantee that they will be properly made.

The vision indulged by the correspondent of the Witness of wealthy and prosperous provinces in the far North and North-West of Canada will surprise many Canadians. It must be remembered, however, that the isothermal lines trend far north in the Peace River country, and that the British Columbia Pacific Coast climate is mild, and even genial, as compared with much lower latitudes on the Atlantic sea-board. Port Essington on the Skeena River narrowly escaped becoming the western terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway, so that the idea of a transcontinental line for Fort Simpson to Hudson's Bay may some day be realized if by actual trial the Hudson Bay's route be proved practical. The Peace River country is in the same latitude as Liverpool, and that it is capable of supporting a large population is now beyond doubt. Grain does not seem to be more liable to frost in the Peace River district than in Southern Manitoba or Dakota, and the soil is fully as fertile.

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposures, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pains in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure.—H. E. Stimpson, Rogers Prairie, Tex.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my Lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who knew me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers.—Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is considered, here, the one great remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and is more in demand than any other medicine of its class.—J. F. Roberts, Magnolia, Ark. ††

WESTERN PASS. THOSE WHO HAVE not yet availed themselves of the grand opportunity—ticket reads—the past two weeks of getting a Fine Cabinet Photo at from $3.00 to $4.00 per dozen, and the best work in the city, you will have the chance to do so this week only, up to Saturday, September 22nd. This is positively our last day that we shall make pictures at those prices. Remember that we guarantee first-class work, and that you will get just what you pay for, if you pay for one dozen Cabinet Photos you will get them, and they will be finished here in your city. Do not let the thought run away with you, that we intend to run away with your money and leave you in the lurch. I would ask: How long would my business exist in doing otherwise than a straight honest business? I would not have time to get to another town before every man, woman, boy and child would know of it, and the result would be a "Busted Photographer" for ever. I am no amateur, not experimenting. I have run this business for over 12 years, and I can save you $4 00 on each dozen Cabinet Photos. If you don't credit this come and see for yourself. We can show you, not only 8 or 10 people, but hundreds that we have made pictures for here in Victoria, see if they have been swindled. Bearing in believing.

Come this week and see us at the Tents, Corner Courtney and Government streets, opposite the Windsor Hotel. Respectfully

SHIRLEY CARSTONE.

By ELIZA ARCHARD.

CHAPTER VII.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER.

Till the shadows gathered Shirley sat there under the willows. Her heart seemed dead within her. She was only 16. She was very strong. Her ancestors on her father's side of the house had lived to be 100 years old, some of them. She was f'm her father's side of the house. Would she live to be 100 years old and have to keep on facing sorrows and disappointments like this all the time? Then life was serious business.

"Shirley! Shirley! Where are you? Come up to the house, quick!"

It was her brother Tom calling. She gave a start. Was it really growing dusk? She hastened to the house. Her mother met her at the porch.

"Where have you been all this time?" she asked. Then, without waiting for an answer, she ran on:

"Your father rode the sorrel colt away this afternoon. He has not come back. I'm afraid something has happened to him. What shall I do?"

Shirley gathered herself up. Her heart gave a bound, and then stopped with an awful stillness.

"Which way did he go?" she asked.

"Towards Linwood."

"Where's Sam?"

"Sam has gone to a negro wedding, and won't be back to-night."

The children gathered around while they talked, and watched Shirley with frightened, pleading eyes. It was Shirley they all turned to in their troubles, even then. She was herself in a moment, the good, brave daughter again.

"Get the pony, Tom, and come with me," she said.

She went to the stable and saddled Penelope, Ulysses' mate. In five minutes she and Tom were on the road to Linwood. Through the gathering gloom they sped like the wind. By the light streaming from the window they discerned a group of persons at the door of Simpkins' grocery. A small boy was telling something to the rest, throwing his arms about in excitement. It was the baby tramp, little Rip. Shirley heard these words:

"He spoke to me sassy, and he says, 'Stop, there, you little devil.' Gee! but he said it sassy. Then he kicked his heels into the horse's sides, an' he spoke to him like he was the boss, and told him to go on. But the horse shook his head to tell him he wouldn't. Then the horse jumped on his hind legs like this, and fell over. The man was throwed out into the road. The horse didn't get up again, and the man didn't get up again. They're layin' out there in the road yet, you bet!"

Shirley listened with pale lips. "It is my father!" she exclaimed. "Where was it, boy?"

"Out there," said the child, jerking his thumb over his shoulder.

"It's out on the State Line turnpike. Come Tom, quick."

She was off again, like the wind.

"Good Lord, 'twas Col. Carstone!" exclaimed Mis' Simpkins. "What if she goes out alone in the dark and finds her father dead? Men! follow her quick!"

Friendly souls, half a dozen stalwart men, pursued the girl as rapidly as they might on horseback. A wagon was hastily got in readiness and sent after.

Never again had Shirley a ride like that. She was a strong, hopeful girl, and always looked at the bright side. But now she was overwhelmed with an awful presentiment of something, she knew not what. From the first moment she expected the worst.

Four miles out from Linwood the State Line pike passed through a wide, lonely valley, wooded at the sides and fringed with a dense, damp undergrowth of bushes. It was the middle of June. The sky was overcast with blackness so that scarcely a star shone. Yet the valley was lit by ten million lamps. An innumerable swarm of fireflies danced above the undergrowth. The damp air was one glow of intermitting, phosphorescent light. Never before, or afterward, did Shirley see fireflies in such a gleam of splendor. In after years she never looked at one of these light bringing creatures that it did not recall that night.

Into the heart of this valley, into the blackness set off by millions of infinitesimal, flickering stars; into the loneliness and silence, Shirley and her awed young brother rode. They saw two motionless, formless objects lying dark against the dim, white turnpike. A nameless terror clutched their young hearts with an icy hand. Tom gave a cry which was echoed back from the hillsides.

They dismounted. The friendly riders that galloped up a little later found Shirley sitting in the middle of the lonely road with something in her lap, unknowingly swaying back and forth, and moaning:

"O my father! My father!"

Little Tom stood close beside her, holding the horses, and weeping bitterly. It was a sight to weaken the stoutest hearts.

And still the myriad fireflies danced up and down, and gleamed through the blackness with their quivering, weird sparkles.

It was the thoughtfulness of little Mis' Simpkins that sent the doctor down the road. He examined the cold, senseless form:

"He is not dead," he told them. "He is still breathing! Lift him into the wagon. There! Careful! Get back and give him air. Shirley, get in, and hold your father's head on your lap. Jim Sweet, lead her horse and mine. I will go in the wagon, too."

So, through the darkness, the mournful train headed toward the stone house. Gentle and kindly, if rough hands, laid Col. Carstone in his own bed that night. His wife wept and moaned as one bereft of her senses. It was Shirley who directed the men where to place him; Shirley who took the doctor's directions and listened to his verdict; Shirley who sat beside her father's couch and watched with sharpened eyesight for sign of returning consciousness.

The patient had suffered concussion of the brain, and was in a state of stupor. How severe the injury was could not be as yet ascertained. All night Shirley sat there. At daylight the rustic neighbors and people from the village poured into the house. The porch was full of them. They gathered in the broad hallways and peered over one another's shoulders through the door and windows. Here was an event, something out of the usual. They were making the most of it, like a Fourth of July or a suicide. There was nobody to keep them off.

As the sun began to climb the heavens, the injured man stirred faintly. The first row of the gaping crew reported the fact duly to the row behind, and so the report spread through the ranks. Struggling on the outskirts was tow-headed Hughie Carter, little Mis' Simpkins' nephew. That worthy dame was unable to be present in the house of affliction at the first streak of dawn, owing to being "stuck at home" by the necessity of opening the grocery. But she hounded Sim Simpkins out of bed an hour earlier than usual, stationed him behind the window with the box of blacking and the two clothespins in it, and was off with celerity to join her neighbors at the stone house. Hughie, at the steps, saw her afar off, coming up the path. Straightway he sung out the news to her, at the top of his piping voice:

"Aunt Sal! Sa-a-y! Aunt Sally! Aunt Sal-l! He's a-comin to!"

The patient heard it. He opened his eyes, saw his faithful daughter, and then turned them slowly about the room. He looked about the room, and saw that he was there in his own bed. Then he perceived the gaping crew at the door and windows. He frowned. He turned his questioning eyes on Shirley. These be the first words he spake on returning to consciousness. Let them be duly recorded.

"Why is the house filled with this ingrammatical pack!"

"Sh, father," said Shirley, "they are the neighbors, don't you see!"

Shirley was extremely sensitive about hurting people's feelings. So was her father when he was in his right mind. But now he was only half in his right mind, consequently he was off his guard and honest. He scanned the throng once more.

"Very ignorant and uncultured persons habitually hold their mouths open," said he, slowly and solemnly. "Turn them out, Shirley."

There is not a tragedy in life but has its comic side. Even Hamlet had his merry gravedigger.

Col. Carstone recovered, to all appearances, and went about as usual. Shirley's own little private grief had lost its sharpness in the dread shadow of that other greater sorrow which had passed so awfully near them.

The girl's mind ran once more on her poem. Her father sympathized with her hopes and ambitions entirely. He was her counselor and confidant in all things. All things? Perhaps there was just one little corner of her heart that she kept veiled from him. Perhaps, too, this adored and adoring father knew more even about that little corner than Shirley thought for.

There was something peculiarly beautiful and touching in this love between father and daughter. They were much alike. They were of strong, intense nature, both, so that far more than the common tie between parent and child bound them together, to begin. But there was also superadded to this common tie an intellectual good comradeship lacking between most fathers and daughters. They were very near to each other and very much to each other.

"I mean to study and practice writing for two years, papa," said Shirley. "When I am 18 I shall begin my poem. It is to be all about women. I won't have a man in it, except only just enough to hang the plot on. I'm tired of reading about men and fighting. Women have been slighted in history and poetry since the world began. 'Moderate honors are suitable to women,' says Tiberius. It shall be so no more. I will not have it so. The hero of my poem shall be a woman."

So the girl read and pondered, and dreamed the days away. The poem took shape. Her heroine should be a kingly woman, such as the world never saw before, but should see many a time hereafter, in the coming ages. She should be a woman, strong and shining, head and shoulders above all the rest, like Agamemnon, king of men. Hawthorne alone, of all the writers Shirley read, had felt the thrill of her heroine's coming presence. Hester, in the "Scarlet Letter," heard her advancing footsteps:

At some brighter period, when the world should be ripe for it, in Heaven's own time, a new truth will be revealed, in order to establish the whole relation between man and woman on a surer ground of mutual happiness. * * * The angel and apostle of the coming revelation must be a woman indeed, but lofty, pure and beautiful, and wise, moreover, not through dusky grief, but the ethereal medium of joy.

As Shirley read and thought, she was led on to look deeper into the currents of human existence. It came to her that her imagination would create a beautiful life that should be an eternal benediction to womankind. Women, the world over, would read the poem, and this heroine of hers should be an inspiration to them. The toilers, the troubled, the heart broken, the weak among women should gather strength and hope from her pages. Her poem—hers—Shirley's—should sing a strain of lofty music that would ring around the world.

And then?

Youth is strong and fiery and elastic. Her thoughts suddenly dived down into the veiled corner of her heart. And they sang a song that to her ear was as sweet as that which should echo round the world. They sang this:

Perhaps the master will hear it too, and come and——

DUNCAN'S STATION SHOW.

To the Editor of the Times:

Your Country Major reports general dissatisfaction on Salt Spring Island at the change of site for the proposed agricultural exhibition from Maple Bay to Duncan's Station, but I am informed that last year in all Salt Spring Island there were only three persons who subscribed the membership fee. If this is the case surely the good people of Burgoyne Bay and the island generally cannot be surprised that the members of the society decided to remove to some situation where there was a probability of accommodating a greater number of members and where it would be easy of access to the general public. The Salt Spring Islanders were formerly the most energetic of members, indeed we depended very much on them to fill several sections in the hall, and it is to be hoped they will again return to their former state, as they can easily place their exhibits on the train at Chemainus, from which place by the kindness of the railway company, they will be delivered free of charge on the show grounds. Of course, the show grounds will this year be in a very rough state, but as they seem to be now centrally situated there can be doubt that in the near future this will become one of the most important exhibitions in the province, and I, for one, trust, there will not only be exhibitions held here, but that farmers may meet here from time to time to discuss agricultural interests generally, a subject which seems very much neglected by our Legislature. Trusting to meet both Town and Country Majors on the 29th, I am, yours,

Old Mahben.

THE PRESENT AGE.

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir,—It is a very common observation amongst those who take the trouble to think about such matters, that although the world is getting wiser and richer it is not getting proportionately better. Applying this observation to ourselves, and so far as we of this city are concerned, can we notice any perceptible improvement in our manners and general deportment, commensurate with the present march of intellect? Can we point to any single thing indicative of such improvement? Complaints are heard that we retrograded. In this age of progress there is no such thing as standing still; if we do not advance we are falling behind. The saloons, notwithstanding all the denunciation, still keep open to the small hours of morning, or can do so without let or hindrance, and in fact seem the only resort for the masses. Institutions for intellectual and social improvement there are none, and when the days' labor is ended, there is a blank to be filled up, and an idle hour on hand that sadly requires friendly aid and direction. And what is to be regretted in this our city of Victoria, where there exists such general well-to-doism, we have no one of sufficient public spirit to feel concerned about this deficiency, and desirous to take the public by the hand, and suggest means and measures for social improvement. Almost every city it is sure to have some such public spirited citizen conspicuous by his zeal in such efforts, but in this respect we are lamentably deficient. Amongst our notabilities there seems to be no individuality for good, so far as concerns the general public. That something akin to a species of antagonism prevails between the classes and the masses, and the most supreme indifference on the part of these classes as to social and moral welfare of this other section of the community. We hear the church bells pealing out every Sunday morning, and service through the day, but what have we got during the rest of the week for popular edification? What for customs, for improvement of the rising generation, etc.? The answer is nothing! And thus we go on day after day, week in and week out, month after month, and no dawn of a better day, except that rising from the feeble hope that at some time in the future, if our citizens can find sufficient stamina equal to the exertion, we may have a reading room and public library. That the influence of such an institution will meet the bill, and be equal to present requirements, is questionable, but at any rate it is a step in the right direction and a good beginning.

In our city we have many institutions to be proud of, notably our public schools, and we have just got a magnificent new court house, and we have a substantial goal; but we have no public library or organization for mutual improvement, the only means for obtaining information being the talk of the streets, or from the opportunity of looking over the shoulders of those assembled at Campbell's corner and getting a peep at the newspapers.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown—to day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions fluding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

—Take Ayer's Pills and be cured. Misery is a mild word to describe the sufferings of body and mind, caused by habitual constipation. A moderate use of Ayer's Pills will invariably regulate the bowels.

—Canker humors of every description, whether in the mouth, throat, or stomach, are expelled from the system by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. No other remedy can compare with this, as a cure for all diseases originating in impure or impoverished blood.

—John Hayes, Credit P.O., says:—"His shoulder was so lame for nine months that he could not raise his hand to his head, but by the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil the pain and lameness disappeared, and although three months has elapsed, he has not had an attack of it since."

—Mr. George Tolen, Gravenhurst, Ont., writes: "My customers who have used Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic cure say that it has done them more good than anything they have ever used." It has indeed a wonderful influence in purifying the blood and curing diseases of the Digestive Organs, the Liver, Kidneys, and all disorders of the system.

—There is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—a pulmonic of acknowledged efficacy. It cures lameness and soreness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back; and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claims to public confidence.

—Premonitions of approaching danger, in the shape of digestive weakness, lassitude, inactivity of the kidneys, pains in the region of the liver and shoulder blades, mental depression coupled with headache, furred tongue, vertigo, should not be disregarded. Use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, and avert the peril to health. It removes all impurities and gives tone to the whole system.

Favorites.

Mr. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are great favorites in Victoria and will undoubtedly receive a cordial reception on their re-appearance to-night.

Steamship Batavia.

The following passengers arrived at Vancouver on the Batavia from Hongkong and Yokohama: Capt Sieward, E Gray, W Ross, E M Sang, James Grey, Mr Gilmore and wife, K Tamat and J Livingtone. She also brought 458 Chinese. Her cargo consists of 1520 tons of freight including 947 tons of tea, 188 packages of silk and 40 chests of opium.

Choral Union.

It is learned on good authority that a meeting will shortly be convened in this city for the purpose of forming a choral union. Some of the leading musicians of this city have taken the matter in hand and it is believed before the winter season commences that Victoria will have a well organized society of singers.

Corrig School.

This school has opened with an attendance of over thirty boys from some of our most respected families. The Rev. Mr. Brenton, as principal, gives the pupils the benefit of his wide experience, and is assisted by an able body of assistants. Mr. John Talbot, an experienced and successful master from Novington School, Kent, England, has just arrived to act as assistant resident master.

Lorne and Indian Creeks.

On Lorne Creek since high water the miners are obtaining fair pay, and expect before the season closes to do a good summer's work. Messrs. McCarthy and Anderson are making an ounce a day to the man on Indian Creek, a tributary of the Skeena, which flows into that stream at Kits-a-las Canyon. Indian Creek is quite a number of miles in length, and it is fully anticipated that it will give profitable employment in the near future to many miners.

A Rise in Lumber.

The owners and managers of the different saw mills on Burrard Inlet which cut lumber for the local trade have agreed on a new schedule of prices which have came into effect a few days ago. The prices now asked are: Bridge and wharf plank and lumber from $12 to $16 per M feet, B. M., according to length. Flooring from $17.50 to $27.50, according to the size and quality. Rustic from $17.50 to $22.50, according to quality. Boards S. S. $20 to $22.50, D. D. $25.50 to $25. Lath and shingles $2. The demand is good.

An Enterprising Man.

Our enterprising citizen, Mr. M. R. Smith, has bought out the machinery, &c., of the celebrated Portage la Prairie Biscuit Factory. The outfit is expected to arrive every day, and will be placed in the building formerly used as a malt house at James Bay, when the customers of Smith & Son, will have offered to them a superior class of home-made goods including every description and kind of plain and fancy biscuits. The Portage Biscuit Factory was the largest west of Toronto.

Church Social.

A pleasant evening was spent at the milk and honey social in the Calvary Baptist Church last evening. The attendance was not to say large but there were enough present for to make it a pleasant, social time. At the conclusion of the programme, published below, refreshments were served and a pleasant social chat enjoyed all round. Programme:—Reading, Miss Walker; Music, Choir; Recitation, Mrs Atherton; Music, Choir; Reading, Mr Vaughn; Solo, Miss Holden; Recitation, Miss Pickard; Song, Master Eddie Vigor; Remarks, Mr. Rugg.

Everything Ready.

The Theatre door will be open at 7.30 prompt to-night. The scenery and property are all ready in the Theatre for the ringing up of the curtain, and as arrangements have been made with the Sound steamer to make all possible speed, there is no doubt but what the Grismer Company will be here early, and the curtain will raise on time. Mr. Grismer produced "Forgiven" and "The World Against Her" one week each at the New Park Theatre, Portland, to the best business of the present season at that Theatre, and judging from the sale of seats at Waitt's he will have the same to say of Victoria, as the sale is unusually large.

The Sound Steamers.

Puget Sound papers confirms the report published in the TIMES some weeks ago to the effect that the Potter and North Pacific steamers would be placed on the Victoria Puget Sound route about the end of this month. The T. J. Potter will be brought round from the Columbia this week and will succeed the Alaskan, the latter going to San Francisco for repairs. The North Pacific will be out in about a week in good trim after her recent overhauling. She will go on to the Whatcom route for a month or two or until the end of the excursion season, when she will replace the Olympian on the Victoria route. The Potter and North Pacific will probably continue on the Victoria route until the commencement of next year's excursion season. The former is one of the fastest boats in the O. R. & N. service.

The great steamship City of New York which was expected to revolutionize trans-Atlantic travel has succeeded so far in making the slowest time of the season. Her last trip was 8½ days. Her machinery does not work well.

PERSONAL.

Items Telling of the Movements of Well Known Persons.

Colonel L Petyt, Government Inspector of French and Colonial Railways, arrived in this city last night on the steamer Yosemite.

Sir Henry Tyler, President of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, arrived last night on the steamer Yosemite and left this morning for Puget Sound.

Judge Dawson, who has resigned the judgeship at Sitka, Alaska, has arrived in Tacoma. He gives Alaska a hard name. Says it is only fit for Indians and dogs.

Marriage licenses were issued in Seattle on Monday to Duncan Campbell and Miss Christie McLeod, of Cape Breton, N S.

W S Stout, Supt. of the Dominion Express Company, who with his wife has been in the city for the past two weeks, leaves for Toronto to-night. Mr and Mrs Stout have enjoyed their stay in Victoria very much.

L A Fuller and wife, of St Louis, who have been in Victoria for the past week, leave for Montreal to-night. Mr Fuller is manager of the Pacific Express Company at St. Louis.

The leading philanthropist in Seattle is a boot-black named C O Collins. He has started with $5 a fund for the relief of the Jacksonville sufferers and it is rapidly increasing.

An excursion party, from Boston, Mass, registered at the Driard last evening. Amongst them are Geo. R. Harris and wife, Miss Harris, Miss M. C. Harris, A. T. Harris, W. C. Harris and wife, Miss M. T. De Margate, S. C. Cobb and wife, J Marquand and G. A. Hilton. Mr. Harris is a director of the C. P. R.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

Joint Stock Company—Right of Way—Baseball Team Arrive.

(Special to THE TIMES.)

New Westminster, Sept. 19—A joint stock company composed of English capitalists, and prominent New Westminster citizens, has been formed to build and operate a saw mill Herring's Point, opposite Sapperton. The capital stock is $30,000, with power to increase to $300,000. Large timber limits have been secured and building operations will commence early next year.

Messrs. Benson and McGorrie have finished the chopping on their contract for clearing the New Westminster Southern right-of-way and will proceed at once with the burning.

The Westminster baseball team returned home all right this afternoon from Kamloops.

RESCUES TWO SEAMEN.

A Boat Lowered From the Batavia and Two Japanese Picked up.

Whilst the steamship Batavia was making her last trip between Hongkong and Kobe, two half-drowned Japanese sailors were seen clinging to a mast. A boat was lowered and was taken charge of by first-officer Somerville. The waves were running mountains high, and on account of the dark and stormy night it was hard to find the mast. At length it was reached and two half-drowned and nearly dead Japanese sailors were taken off and put on board the Batavia where, through the exertions and kind offices of Dr. McGuigan, they were restored to life. It afterwards turned out that they had been three days on the mast, and that seven of their companions had been lost. They had belonged to a Japanese junk. The Japanese government sent a letter of thanks to Captain Watton and his officers and men who rescued the men, and it is said that the gallant captain will receive the Royal Humane Society's medal.

A Noble Effort.

According to announcement, an old fashioned tea meeting was given at the Gorge Road Church last evening. Four large tables fairly groaned beneath the weight of good things so amply provided by the ladies of the congregation. Upwards of 200 people were present. At 8.30 Rev. Mr. Wadman took the chair, in the absence of A. C. Flummerfelt, and the programme was immediately proceeded with. Mr. Agius, with two or three of his C Battery band, accompanied by Mr. Sharpe, gave one or two selections, followed by a solo from Mr. Sam. Reid. Then Mrs. Chase played, Noah Shakespeare sang; Mr. Humber gave an address; the Spencer family sang; a Caroline officer recited; another sang, while Saml. Gray, Esq., spoke a few words, as also A. C. Flummerfelt, who had just arrived from Vancouver. The most interesting part of the evening's proceedings, however, was a blackboard exercise by the pastor of the church. It consisted of an exercise to wipe the debt ($4,500) off the church and new parsonage. This whole amount was broken up into small sums all the way from $100 down to one dollar, and was so represented on the board. As the people handed in their various amounts they felt disposed to give, the chairman cancelled the amount with chalk. It was not long before more than half the amount of the debt was subscribed the people growing very enthusiastic. In a few moments the pastor announced that he had the whole amount except five or six hundred dollars and since there were several members of the congregation unavoidably absent, who if called upon would also contribute, he felt sure in a few days the whole debt would be a thing of the past. This certainly is a noble effort on the part of the Gorge Road church. Mr. Wadham ought to feel very much pleased to have surrounding him such a noble band of men and women willing to do all they can to help in the good cause. The reporter noticed that the ladies of the church particularly seemed very much interested in the work. The following were the committee who had charge of the tables: Mrs. S. Grey, Mrs. Humber, Mrs. Flummerfelt, Mrs. Wadman, Mrs. Bone, Mrs. E. J. Gray, Miss Humber, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. McConnell, Mrs. Walsh and others.

OUR TOWN MAJOR.

City Council—Skeena Expedition—Words to "Ex-Councillor."

If the city fathers meet to-night, it is hoped that something definite may be done regarding Alderman Kelly's railway bonus. In all probability there may be some motions regarding the sewers, and an attempt will be made to tinker the Pickering plans. To say that they will be tampered with by the present council is a foregone conclusion; they'll be tampered with till their authors would not know them. No doubt there will be propositions made to engage eminent engineers to alter and correct the plans. At the same time it may be also suggested to have other plans drawn up by parties already in possession of copies of the Pickering plans. The public would like to be informed how it came about that an engineer obtained possession of a copy of the plans in question. Thereby hangs a tale, and a pretty long one too it is. The tail will be a little longer when the city will be requested to pay for alterations in plans another $3,500. The whole thing is cut and dried, in their mind, and so is the expenditure of the $30,000. Victoria will receive in return, what? A defective system of sewerage, that later on will have to be rectified at double the cost of having the thing done right in the first place. Some knowing ones will pocket their share; they'll dance and sing, and the people will pay the piper. What else is, or can be expected. It is simply the old, old story over again. The only alternative lies in the people insisting that moneys voted for sewerage purposes shall be placed in the hands of honest commissioners.

Now, my Hon. John, you haven't given us the bill for the Skeena picnic yet. The eastern press hint that Sir Adolph has been asked to contribute. They don't object to your having a boating party on your own account to rectify your little mismanagement of your household affairs, sport your tony specials and the like, but they want to know what on earth the gallant knight has to do taking an oar in your boat. Come, now, like a good, decent boy, let us have the little account with the two "bits" a day for each of the batterymen added to it by way of a compromise. See what a fine speech you can make out of that item." The opposition object to the item for so and so, but bear in mind the two "bits" a day to the men of C Battery, etc. It will come in fine you'll find. Now, John, you read what the Rev. Mr. Starr told them in Winnipeg the other day. Your troubles are only commencing, and altho' your Hon. President of the Council intends keeping his coal at $10 a ton, it will be hot enough for you the coming winter. Let us have the bill, John, before your debating club meets.

The Major would like to know where his dear friend "ex-Councillor" of a few months ago has vamoosed to. Here we have had sewers on the brain for weeks past, and "ex-Councillor" is silent. Come now, my dear fellow, if you wait to become an Alderman, Mayor, Senator from Squimalt, or old King Coal himself, now is your time to wade in. With a little more rope, the fellows that are working the pea about sewer plans, alterations, brick, wooden taps, and gingerbread sluices, itching to lay hands on that devoted $30,000, will hang themselves. Now is your time, my dear "ex-Councillor" to pitch in and become an Alderman, which you'd be by act of parliament. You have several good counts—morality, water works, sewers, railway bonuses, hotel bonuses (?) and coal at $10 a ton! There's a programme for you, many a man made himself a lord president on less. Now give the Major a hit on sewers. We should have the whole bill, and nothing but the bill—$450,000 and Pickering's plans, without a single curtailment, Pickering to do the work as offered. This you ought to know something about. A little talk about the sewers from "Ex-Councillor", would be refreshing to the public and

Of course, a full house will greet the "city favorites," Mr. Grismer and Miss Phœbe Davis at the Victoria this evening. The legitimate drama and talent, ought to be supported and frauds ignored. Has there ever been any move made to bring prices down to popular figures, as suggested some time ago? If a person can only afford four "bits" for a seat and has to go to the gallery, he is told by the critic of the Colonist that he's "not intelligent," so what is a poor person to do? Pay a dollar and be reckon-intelligent, eh?

THE TOWN MAJOR.

MANSLAUGHTER.

An Indian Seal Hunter Kills a Companion.

In the Provincial Court to-day, before Robert Ward, J. P., an Indian named George was charged with manslaughter. Supt. Roycraft informed the Court that the prisoner was a sealer on the schooner Mary Ellen, owned by Capt. Alex. McLean. He was sent out in a sealing boat with another Indian and accidentally killed deceased.

Capt. McLean, deposed: I am captain of the sealing schooner Mary Ellen; prisoner was employed on the schooner; on August 19th prisoner and an Indian named Louie, both of the Neuchattet tribe, went out hunting; the schooner was in the Behring sea; they left the schooner in the morning and the boat returned at 3 p. m; prisoner came on board the schooner and brought deceased with him; deceased was shot through the right side; prisoner said he was sailing along when he saw a seal coming along near the stern of the boat; he raised his gun but could not get a shot at the seal; prisoner said he laid the gun down and whilst doing so the gun was discharged; prisoner was greatly distressed when he came aboard and has been sorry ever since. Deceased was able to speak when he came aboard, but would not answer any questions; told other Indians to ask whether they had any quarrel; deceased expressed a wish to have his body brought back to the West Coast. I complied with his wish. The prisoner said he was willing to stand his trial; he bears a very good character amongst his tribe; examined the gun; it went off very easily and nearly killed another man.

Prisoner said he was friendly with deceased; the gun was no good and went off and on that account his friend was killed.

His Honor said the evidence was insufficient to hold prisoner.

Supt. Roycraft said the proper course would have been to hold an inquest; but on account of the landing of the body at the West Coast it was thought best to hold an enquiry in this city. He did not think the evidence sufficient to commit prisoner for trial.

The Indian was therefore discharged.
